Asaro completes T-Plan Integrator IP transfer

The transfer of the Intellectual Property rights for the T-Plan Integrator has successfully been transferred in full to Asaro Systems. This transfer allows us to continue with the focused development and support of this solution.

The Integrator V6 will soon be with us and will as a result be completely re-branded as an Asaro product; this is a very positive move and one that will see the development cycles speed up and the deployment options increase.

“We are delighted with this agreement; we have the expertise to shape products that provide a high technical complexity whilst meeting the numerous customer use cases. By now owning the full IP we are motivated to innovate the solution further. Integrator v6 re-architecture has been shaped by our customers and will continue to be as the solution grows.”
